MASTERCLASS WITH PETER TUMMINELLO, BRISTOL, 19-20 OCTOBER 2019
'Psyche and Structure - Crystals, Minerals and Personality Typology'

"Crystal structures are psycho-emotional forms, the containers of trends of thinking and feeling, the broad brushstrokes of the mind which form a recognisable landscape"

The seminar is an exposition of the material in Peter's new book 'Psyche and Structure' and builds on his previous work 'Twelve Jewels'. He will use his understanding of structure, along with standard symptomatology and case analysis, as well as the use of the colour symptom to shine a light into the enigma that is our extraordinary Materia Medica.

Homeopathics, which are derived from elements, minerals and gemstones, each bear the stamp of a definitive crystal structure.

Peter has uncovered how to use the key of crystal structure to unlock prescriptions to this vast array of medicines, which form such a significant part of the Materia Medica. This is a new arena of homeopathic understanding and the result of ten years of scientific and clinical research.

It complements the work of Sankaran, Scholten and Welte in the world of minerals.

Peter has been in full-time homeopathic practice for over 30 years now in Sydney, Australia.

He was inspired to do provings in the 90s and early in the process he decided to integrate his personal interest in precious and semi-precious gems. In 2005 he completed his major work 'Twelve Jewels' on medicines made from gemstones and crystals.

In 2017 he completed research on the nature of crystallization and its relevance to all mineral based remedies in homeopathy. This is now available in his book titled 'Psyche and Structure'.

Peter has mined and collected crystals and minerals, often in remote locations, for preparing new medicines for many years. To fertilise this process of creating a body of work about crystals in homeopathy, he qualified as gemmologist in 2010.

He has conducted seminars in the UK, Europe, USA, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia and is the author of numerous journal articles. He continues to consolidate his work in the laboratory of the homeopathic clinic.
